A LITTLE BIT ARTSY.
A LITTLE BIT EARTHY.

Creating one-of-a-kind accessories is as simple as mixing these Mother Nature-inspired charms, chains and ribbons. When you want easy-breezy customizable jewelry, just channel your inner Poetic Spirit.

like a charm

To get this tribal-style look, we added this turquoise and wood chain (it comes ready to go) to a chunky bead necklace with jewelry wire fed through bead cones. We kept the rustic look going by using dark-brown ribbon tied to jump rings in place of a clasp.

« truly turquoise

Loving the turquoise trend? Take it up a notch by choosing dainty charms—we've got pearl-embellished ones, mixed media ones and more—to adorn turquoise chains, ribbon and ready-to-wear necklaces.

« colors of the wind

Jewel tones equal joy. You'll see that the second you slip in these light-as-a-feather hoops. The pieces come pre-assembled, so all you have to add are the hooks. Looking for a project that's a breeze? You've found it.

» fabulous facets

How do you take that make-it-fast philosophy and turn it glam? In this case, the fancy factor boils down to color and shape. Iridescent beads (faceted to catch the light) and a teardrop frame whisper, "wear me with your date-night dress."

strung along

We've made it easy to pull the switch on a wear-it-with-everything pendant. Think ribbons! Available in an earthy palette of colors, they're made for mixing, matching and mingling as the spirit moves you. And here's the best part: you don't have to attach a clasp. Just tie a bow and go.

peace of me

If your idea of Zen is a necklace you can pull together in no time flat, this piece will send you to your happy place—guaranteed. It's made from a handful of our hip, ready-to-go components. We pulled them together with crimp ends (for the ribbon) and jump rings.

TIP: These pieces are meant to inspire your creativity, so don't be afraid to follow that inspiration wherever it leads. A peace sign paired with vintage-style floral? Nobody would do it but you—and that's what makes it amazing.
