the fabric of (glittery) fab!

» initially yours Glitter makes any letter better. Trace the initial of your choice onto glitter fabric. Then, cut it out and border it with rhinestone trim (available in the Fabric Department). Now, mount on fabric or scrapbook paper and slide it into a frame. Tip: We made the bow embellishment. It's basic ribbon topped with strips of glitter fabric and a bit of rhinestone trim.

tray day

Slap some slither on a bare wood tray, and you have diva-worthy decor! Start with a simple paint job—we did two coats of green acrylic. When the color is dry, adhere snakeskin fabric and a trio of ready-to-go rosettes (available in the Scrapbooking Department).

bottom line She's cute coming and going, thanks to our yummy appliqué. For this look, apply fusible web to glitter fabric, according to the manufacturer's instructions. Then cut out your shapes and iron into place. For a finished look, pin tear-away stabilizer to the wrong side of the diaper cover and zigzag stitch to the edges of the design. Tip: The hand-stitched beads were our very last step.

princess practice You know how to do a dress up day right—with accessories made from glitter fabric! Just cut out simple shapes, and embellish with gemstones. Crown: Attach back strap with hand-glittered brads. Necklace: Punch a hole at each end, and knot on two ribbons for a closure. Wand: Coat a dowel rod with loose glitter, and sandwich between layered cutouts.

it's a gift Don't bestow a basic box. Make your presents known with glitter! Cut a series of simple shapes from glitter fabric—use stencils if you want perfection—and adhere as desired. We suggest layering your handiwork with assorted ribbons.

hanging out Try turning strips of glitter fabric into shiny rosette embellishments. Just work each strip into a spiral, gathering the fabric with your fingers and gluing (or stitching) as you go. The finished doodads are great on gifts, wearables or one-of-a-kind wreaths.

playing tag

These pretty die cut tags (they came with the jute ties) were begging for embellishment! We went with sparkly hearts, cut from sheets of our handy glitter paper, and velvet ribbon. Tip: You'll find the ready-to-decorate tags in the Scrapbooking Department.

« carry the day

Make this grab-and-go clutch from a single sheet of glitter fabric. Just cut the fabric to the desired shape and size. Then fold and stitch—we did a blanket stitch around all the raw edges. Cut a slit in the flap to accommodate the button, stitch on said button, and you're done!

⤴ head of roses You can wear fabulous flowers from ear to ear. Just cut a series of circles from glitter fabric (no need to be precise). Then, carefully curl the edges with a lighter. Punch hole through the centers, stack on coordinating brads, and glue to a simple headband.

« go for gold Any girl is good to go with these glamorous gold accessories.

Cuff: Layer a strip of glitter fabric with basic fabric and coordinating trim. Finish with a flower-shaped button and a simple snap closure.

Purse: Fold glitter fabric in half with wrong sides together. Stitch up the sides, turn right side out, and embellish as desired.

posh pouch Your tablet tags along wherever you go, so let it travel trendily! You'll need approximately three fabric squares for this hip giraffe-print pouch.

1. Measure your device on all sides, adding approximately an inch to accommodate width and seam allowance. Cut two panels of fabric accordingly.
2. Cut a piece for the flap closure—it should be as wide as the short side of your panels. Stitch the flap to the short side of one panel with right sides together.
3. If desired, add a strap to the right side of the fabric. Stitch the ends of the strap to the flap, just above the seam line on each side of the pouch.
4. Pin panels with right sides together, leaving the flap end open.
5. Stitch panels together and turn right side out.
