If the shoe fits, add some princess-style details! For this blinged-out baby look, embellish our basic black sneakers with rows and rows of iron-on gems. Then tie it all together with some sweet gingham ribbon.

« bow bag A little felt purse, a sassy zebra iron-on and a coordinating bow clip?

They all add up to the perfect wild child accessory! Tip:

If you want to make things permanent, try adhering the bow to the bag with hot glue.

« pink, please Our canvas bags are as cute as can be, but they're even better when they're personalized. Try some iron-on letters (we went for posh polka dots) and a pair of trendy clip-on embellishments. Now...carry on!

« head space Our trendy crocheted caps are just begging for embellishment! And this embellishment is as easy as it gets! Both bow and flower are mounted on alligator clips. That means no gluing, no sewing and no sweat!

bottom line This little man has fashion covered from front to back! His simple onesie says goodbye with embroidered iron-on letters. Tip: Don't see your favorite color? No problem! We offer an extensive selection of fabric dyes. For this look, we followed the manufacturer's instructions to dye both the letters and the onesie.

lil' sis, big bro Custom lettering? Oh baby, it's true! We carry flocked transfer sheets in an eye-popping array of trendy colors and patterns. Simply trace your letters onto the transfer—try stencils for the perfect design. Then cut out and iron on according to the manufacturer's instructions.

owl be seeing you... in a one-of-a-kind tee! This bird-brained babywear stars an adorable felt appliqué. Just iron it to the fabric according to the manufacturer's instructions. Then add even more character to the look with stacks of quirky felt dots, glued into place.

Oh, the power of a flower! We made this simple off-the-shelf tank dress bloom with a sprinkling of sweet crocheted petals. We stacked them up, stitched them on...and embellished a cap to match! Tip: Add even more custom flair to her ensemble with bright embroidery thread and some well-placed decorative stitches.

Turn our ready-to-embellish babywear into an all-out owl fest! We made a basic onesie and some simple legwarmers with iron-on letters and crocheted flowers. But what's our favorite part of the ensemble? Hoot-worthy headgear, created from a pair of crocheted caps. Tip: To make the ears, sew two triangle-shaped pouches from an extra cap—you can keep things quick by cutting the pieces out along the folds. When you're done, turn the pouches right side out and whipstitch them into place as shown.

« trim spin

Rickrack rings true on this brightly embellished tank dress. The oversized trim is available in the Sewing Department. We glued it on, along with a trio of handmade ribbon rosettes. And we didn't forget the accessories. We decked out a simple hair band and a pair of little shoes to match.

what a ruffle »

This plain white tank dress got a whole new look with some simple, machine-stitched ruffles—you'll find the precious prints in our Fabric Department. After you've ruffled things up, try adding a fancy iron-on monogram and a trio of pretty crocheted flowers.

Tip: Tie her look together with adorable Mary Jane tights. We carry them in sizes from teeny-tiny to 12 months.

For this little sundress, we cut the sleeves and the neckline away from a plain white tee. Then we stitched up a casing to hold some shiny black ribbon ties. A band of pink T-shirt fabric, the skirt from a chic zebra print tank dress, and some improvised "appliques" rounded out the adorable design.

Sassy rosettes put a playful spin on this edgy zebra tank dress featured on the cover. We machine-stitched the rosette trim (sold by the yard in the Fabric Department) into place. The matching legwarmers feature individual rosettes cut from the trim and glued to the bottom cuffs.
