

a peace
of her mind!

Play all girl, all the time with this groovy collection of retro-inspired scrapbooking papers—it's pure girl power with a peacey state of mind.

« cutie-caddy

This razzle-dazzle caddy keeps the peace—thanks to the power of organization! The unfinished wood caddy (available in the Craft Dept.) was painted with acrylic paint and accented with shimmering glitter. Best of all, it's covered, inside and out with our groovy coordinating papers. Since kids love getting personal we added her name with self-adhesive chipboard letters.

pin stripes »

You can't pin her down, but you can pinpoint her cute and carefree style! That's why this funky oversized clothespin is just the thing for her personal space. The clothespin actually started as unfinished wood, so it was easy to personalize with acrylic paint and coordinating glitter. Embellish with polka-dot paper and chipboard doo-dads, and you've got a hip-as-can-be holder for notes, photos, even a monogram!

« peace picture frame

You get the picture! Even her photos deserve a giant dose of whirly-girly fun! For this design, we coated a bare wood frame with acrylic paint and accented the edges with glitter. Next, we added the perfect squiggle with carefully measured strips of printed paper. Finally, we brought out girl power into frame with a funky chipboard flower and a hip peace sign cut from coordinating paper.

⚡ get on board!... You can't go overboard when it comes to organization. So this framed message center is perfect for a girl on the go. Starting as an unadorned chalkboard available in the Craft Dept., we applied acrylic paint and a trio of peacey papers, all picked to pop in our girly space. Then, we applied rolled cork and dry erase film (both self-adhesive and also available in the Craft Dept.) to finish up our oh-so-orderly design. Girls will love its funky design, while moms will love its functionality!

⚡ hip hang-up... Don't rack your brain for the perfect girly storage! Hit the wall with this custom-designed coat rack! For this look, we covered a bare wood coat rack with acrylic paint, coordinating glitter and hippie-chick printed papers. And if your little lady loves to see her name in lights, use the same technique on bold wooden letters—and since the space along the top has been purposely made to hold wooden alphas, her name will look terrific on top of the finished piece.

shadowbox-chic »

You're all for thinking outside of the box, but sometimes the box is part of the design! This framed scrapbook page features peacey printed papers, accented with glitter paper and self-adhesive chipboard letters. And the page is more than a memory on paper—you might call it a work of art! Insert your page into a shadowbox-style frame and hang it front and center as part of your girly decor.

lighten up!

From desk lamps, to nightlights, you'll make light of a roomful of custom-made designs. Handy, self-adhesive shade and nightlight kits are available in the Sewing Notion Dept. We simply followed the manufacturer's directions to apply printed paper to the shade. Then, we added pom-pom trim and glitzy gemstones to complete the look.
