

hooray for teachers!

teacher tools
From bland to brilliant! From the cutie-pie clipboard, to the cheery miniature chalkboard, to the festive apple with caterpillar pointer, to the over-the-top card holder tin—every piece says “thank you teacher!”

pin and paper
Little things can say a lot, especially when you make them yourself! Win your teacher over with quirky pushpins (bottle cap embellishments topped with paper and glued to basic thumbtacks) and sweet little clips (transformed with patterned paper and coordinating ribbon). Or better yet, make their day with a handmade card using scrapbook paper, stamped greetings, and coordinating embellishments.

What would we do without teachers? They show us the ropes when we're tackling our ABC's & 123's. They guide us through years of papers and projects and practices—all to prepare us for the future. So, why not show them how much they really mean to us with a classroom full of handmade gifts from the heart!

Fun and easy gifts to show your favorite teacher just how much you appreciate them!

color coated

Show your favorite teachers just how much you appreciate them when you craft these one-of-a-kind projects. From the imaginative crayon wreath, to this cute paper-maché pencil holder, to a darling door hanger, these pieces are bursting with the joy of color! Featured on these gifts: Lively scrapbook paper, bright alphabet stickers, fun felt embellishments, and more!

« letter love

For a homeroom wall or a corner desk, this colorful monogram is a personal keepsake any teacher would love. To make it, simply cover a chipboard letter with acrylic paint and school paper-style scrapbook paper (with edges inked for depth). Then, finish with cheery accents, from bold 3-D embellishments, to shiny epoxy stickers, to bright coordinating ribbons.

≈ desk set

Practical doesn't mean plain! These terrific gifts combine function with oodles of teacher-friendly fun! The colorful paperweight tops the stack with bright printed paper, bookish ribbon, and a bold 3-D embellishment. And the cute little desk clock? It features a quirky paper clip pattern, school-inspired stickers, and colorful coordinating ribbons.

≈ frame regard

A frame is a terrific way to remind your teacher of her favorite student! This lightweight piece is paper-maché. It was transformed with fun paperclip scrapbook paper, cheery coordinating ribbon, and a cute fabric and gemstone brad.

« gift guild

Any teacher will tell you...presentation can make or break the grade. With that in mind, make an "A" for effort with a cutie-pie card or a gussied-up gift sack. These projects feature everything from eye-popping papers to alphabet stickers. And don't forget the cool school embellishments...they're loaded with bold ribbon, star-shaped clips, colorful brads, and self-adhesive gemstones.

≈ #1 teacher card

Layers of coordinating papers make the grade for this encouraging card. The piece stands out with crinkly ribbon, colorful clips, and assorted brads.
